“Formica: The Art of Modern Marquetry”

Lucy Turner is an established British furniture and interior designer who specialises in the use of Formica marquetry. Her distinctive and original artwork combined with her use of this versatile material has led to the creation of an exciting new collection of vibrant and beautiful furniture.

Lucy’s creativity and expertise brought her to the attention of Mohammed Shamsian, an internationally renowned Master craftsman and artist based in the Sultanate of Oman. Their collaboration has resulted in the launch of a collection of furniture which is unique worldwide.

Inspired by nature, ‘Lucy Turner by Shamsian’ celebrates Lucy’s modern and elegant furniture designs, which are carefully crafted and manufactured by the experienced team at Shamsian.

Aside from its natural beauty, the key advantages of Formica High Pressure Laminate (HPL) lie in its durability, colourfastness, and sustainability. It will not fade, watermark, or discolour. Formica is exceptionally practical, making it the perfect material for homes and interiors where there is high usage. Lucy’s clients delight in the long-lasting beauty of her work, and this has prompted her to design a range of furniture with all the enduring qualities of a material she has championed for almost twenty years.

Wild Oats

Elegant and understated, this softly flowing design is inspired by the English landscape around Lucy's Somerset home. The husk element is precision etched for extra definition and the choice of muted tones lends itself to a wide interior spectrum.

Mountains

The soft low hills of Oman lit by the setting sun inspired Lucy's Omani Mountains design. The subtle colours and tones of the 'low mountains' influenced her choice of colours.

Dandelion

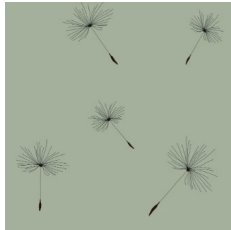

A simple and delicate design where Lucy has caught the movement of the seedheads as they drift in nature. The gentleness of the design is captured beautifully by etching the laminate, using walnut HPL inlay to complete the picture.
